1.	"The wave of antisemitism throughout the world today, which many people equate with the antisemitism that preceded the Holocaust, proves that history is repeating itself."
2.	"Freedom of expression is a paramount value that must be preserved at all costs. Therefore, the United States has deemed Holocaust denial not to be a criminal offense (such as on the Internet), as opposed to Germany where it is an offense. The American approach is the correct one."
3.	"The best way to deal with antisemitism is to ignore it."
4.	"Every person in the world is obliged to learn about antisemitism."
5.	"Preserving the memory of the Holocaust serves to protect us from the propagation of antisemitism."
6.	" In a place where there are no Jews, there cannot be antisemitism."
7.	"Those who view Holocaust denial as dangerous are only exaggerating."
8.	"Minorities in European countries do not have to be concerned with antisemitism in their countries."
9.	"The strengthening of the radical Right in Europe shows that Europeans have failed to draw conclusions from the Holocaust and implement them."
10.	"Any criticism of the State of Israel today is antisemitic."
